Hungary Army requests Rebels Give Up Arms

by Howard Handelman
INS Correspondent

VIENNA, — (INS) — The Hungarian government yesterday ordered rebel forces today that Soviet troops would quit Budapest 24 hours after the insurgents hand over their arms to the regular Hungarian army.

The official Budapest radio said that the Defense Ministry had worked out such an agreement with rebel leaders. A rebel-held radio station at Miskolc in Eastern Hungary reported a short time later that students in Budapest had refused to lay down their arms as the government requested.

SCATTERED fighting was reported in the city this morning as rebel forces reported they have captured the Budapest airport as the seventh day of the anti-Communist uprising.

New Hungarian Premier Minister Ferenc Muennich was quoted by Budapest radio as saying he had dissolved the Communist Parties. He said it would be replaced by a single police force whose members would be chosen from "trustworthy elements."

Five Miss Injury in Weekend Crash

Five Brigham Young University students escaped injury Friday morning when the car in which they were riding rolled over. The occurred about 25 miles east of Bend, Ore.

Occupants of the car were Richard Hall of Bend, and Murphy of Salem, Ore. and Gayle Anderson, Jan Markham and Darlene Miller of Portland Ore.

The students left Provo for the Thursday afternoon Friday morning the car was travelling about 75 miles per hour on the driver fell asleep. The car careened from the left side of the road, ran off the left shoulder, and rolled over onto its roof.

Hewitt, owner of the car, was able to make sufficient repairs on the car to drive it back to U Sunday afternoon Hewitt will transfer student from Oregon State College.

NANCY BRIGGS, Provo was appointed Prosecuting Attorney Miss Briggs is a graduate student with an impressive background of undergraduate debate work. She represented Brigham Young University at the West Point Academy Debate Tourney last winter

IOC President Mish Hollingsworth said court members were selected for scholastic ability, background and because they represented a cross-section of the student body.

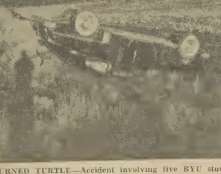
THE IOC Court was approved by the administration late last spring. It replaces the outmoded IOC Social Court.

The present staff of the court is the first to be appointed. This staff has been under consideration since the beginning of fall quarter.

Presentation of the names of the court members to the IOC for approval was delayed two weeks to re-define interpretation of the system also had to be done in conjunction with the school's legal advisors.

According to Rodney Fye, IOC executive assistant, a backlog of cases awaits the new court.

First on the agenda is expected to be consideration of cases against more than thirty campus organizations which have not been sending representatives to IOC meetings



TURNED TURTLE—Accident involving five BYU students occurred 25 miles East of Bend, Ore. After leaving the road the car rolled once but the occupants crawled out unhurt.

Pres. David O. McKay Speaks Today at BYU

PRESIDENT David O. McKay, leader of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will speak at studenbody devotional Tuesday.

Special music for the devotional, which begins at 11 a.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse, will be provided by the University Chorale, under the direction of Ralph Woodward.

Pres. McKay's last devotional appearance at Brigham Young University was October 11, 1955, when he and his wife appeared.

1 NHIS 1955 appearance, Pres. McKay told 7,300 students and faculty members of a five point plan for happy marriage.

He said that they included (1) maintenance of a good reputation, (2) keeping vows made at the altar, (3) control in the home, (4) courtesy and (5) companionship.

Subject of Tuesday's speech has not been announced by Pres. McKay.

Pres. McKay was sustained as president of the Church on April 9, 1951. He had been ordained a member of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles in 1906 and in 1934 was sustained as second counselor to President Heber J. Grant in the First Presidency of the Church.

HE ALSO served in that post in the presidency of President George Albert Smith from 1945 to 1951.

Elder McKay was graduated from the University of Utah in 1897, having served as studentbody president and class valedictorian.

In addition to being president of the Church, his duties include that of president of BYU's Board of Trustees.

CHURCH PRESIDENT—Elder David O. McKay, president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and his wife, Emma Rae. President McKay will speak Tuesday in studentbody devotional. It will be his first devotional appearance since October, 1955.

Israelis Launch Egypt Invasion, Strike at Heart of Arab Lands

by Jack Lavie

JERUSALEM — (INS) — Israeli troops invaded Egyptian territory Monday and reported-ly struck half way across the Sinai peninsula, seizing the Egyptian communications center of Nakhla 70 miles from Suez.

The Israeli forces—in undetermined strength—overran Egyptian frontier posts and bypassed Egyptian army bases in a fighting 70-mile advance.

An Israeli spokesman said the attack was "retaliation" for Egyptian commando attacks which endangered Israeli land and sea communications.

The swift penetration came as Israel completed partial military mobilization amid rising fears of a general Middle East war.

The tension was heightened by reports of an Egyptian naval buildup in the vicinity of Haifa, and Arab charges that Israeli troops were massing near Jordan's frontier.

The new Israeli attacks were disclosed a day after President Eisenhower warned Israel against taking any "forceful initiative" against its Arab neighbors in the explosive Middle East situation.

An Israeli broadcast monitored in London said

"Israeli forces attacked Egyptian command units at El Kuntilla and Ras El Aquba, and have taken up positions west of the Nakhl road junction in the vicinity of the Suez canal.

Daily Universe Critic Hails 'Giant' As Superior Picture

by Richard Kramer
Daily Universe Movie Critic

TEXAS!

"God made a strong foundation, to guild this mighty land!"

Mighty is the word one is forced to use in the case of "Giant." It is a superior motion picture, adapted from Edna Ferber's controversial novel of Texas.

Directed by Academy Award winner George Stevens, "Giant" emerges as a giant of a picture.

Filmed in the small "Texas" community called Marfa the picture makes use of vast landscapes, and never ending horizons.

The story itself is a giant in scope, following the lives of some Texas millionaires for a period of twenty years.

As in the book, the story on film is viewed through the eyes of Leslie Benedick, portrayed expertly by Elizabeth Taylor.

One scene, shot from the air, shows nearly fifteen thousand head of cattle.

The Virginia style mansion known as Reatta Ranch, Benedick family home, was built in Hollywood and moved piece by piece to the Texas location.

"Giant" brings James Dean to the screen, in the role of Jett Rink, a young ranch foreman who becomes an oil tycoon overnight. This superb performance by Dean was his last before his death.

ACADEMY Award winner Mercedes McCambridge as Luz Benedick gives a performance of force and violence. She is truly award material once again.

This film is another one of the "long running" pictures that have been almost an epidemic during the year. It's showing time is four short hours.

Perhaps the film accomplishes one major endeavor and that is to give an accurate and an unbiased account of what Edna Ferber calls "that enormous and sometimes ridiculous commonwealth called Texas."

BYU's Magazine Wins Honors For Publication

Wye Magazine for 1955-56 has been awarded a First Class rating by the Associated Collegiate Press and the National Scholastic Press Association.

For an All-American rating, a college literary magazine must receive 1400 points. The Wye was awarded 1265 points for its first class rating.

Items considered in the judging include fiction, features, editorials, critical reviews, poetry, art work, illustrations photography and cover. Makeup, layout and typography are also judged.

Elva Christensen, Kingman, Ariz., was the Wye editor last year.

Outside Earnings For Student Vets Approved by VA

Veterans in school under the Korean GI Bill may earn any amount of money outside of school, without jeopardizing their monthly GI allowances, Veterans Administration said this week.

Outside earnings need not be reported to VA.

VA explained that some veterans still confuse the Korean GI Bill with the original World War II GI Bill which did have an income "ceiling" that applied to veterans taking all types of training—in school, on-the-job and on-the-farm.

There is no such "ceiling" for veterans in school under the Korean GI Bill, VA said, but there is one for Korea veterans taking on-the-job- training. Under this ceiling, a vet who is in on-the-job training wages, plus his GI allowance, exceed $310 a month, VA will scale down the allowance accordingly, to bring the total within the $310 limit.

Rates for veterans in school fulltime under the Korean GI Bill are $110 a month with no dependents; $135 with one dependent, and $160 with more than one. These are the rates that are not affected by outside earnings.

Job training allowances begin at $70 a month with no dependents; $85 with one, and $105 with more than one dependent. The law requires these rates be reduced in four-month intervals, as training progresses and veterans' earning abilities increase. Allowances are subject to the $310 "ceiling", VA said.

Frolic Ticket Sale Set

Tickets for Fieldhouse Frolics will go on sale Wednesday in the Eyring Science Center and the Smith Building.

Admission to the homecoming variety show will be 25 cents for general admission and 50 cents for reserved seats, according to Larry Peterson, Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, Chairman.

Mormon Orthodoxality Studi By BYU Sociology Professor

by Ray Tracy
Daily Universe Writer

Little has been done in sociological studies about Mormon societies, but Dr. Wilford E. Smith of the Brigham Young University Sociology Department recently completed the task of compiling data on the orthodoxality of Mormon people.

His study was made to "test the hypothesis that members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints who live among a preponderence of fellow church members are more likely to be orthodox in living their religion than are members who live scattered among a preponderence of non-Mormons."

Samples of members of the Church living in three cities, Salt Lake City, where 70 per cent of the population is LDS; Phoenix, Ariz., where 6 per cent of the population is LDS; Los Angeles, Calif., where 3 per cent of the population is LDS were taken as the base for study.

Criteria used for judging was "The Word of Wisdom" because it was considered one of the qualities most closest as persons trend away from the Church.

As the compiled data was digested and carparisons made, the results proved evident. "In spite of much observed laxity, the Latter-day members of the Word of Wisdom has had effects upon the LDS people no matter what their environment."

Not only a the word of doctrine been obeyed, but preservation seems to be greater instead of declining as persons might believe.

Dr. Smith said his study merely shows that the Word of Wisdom has had effects upon the LDS people no matter what their environment.

This study which seems in contrast with certain theological principles, that is how environment forms self, is a tribute to the gospel of the Church and the members who live it, regardless of where they live.

Press Association Awards Universe First Class Rating

The Daily Universe, student newspaper of Brigham Young University, has received notice of its first-class rating for 1955-56 by the Associated Collegiate Press.

Judging is based on coverage, content and typical preparation. The Daily Universe received a total of 1605 points. Score for an All-American rating is 1700 points

The BYU paper was rated "excellent" on campus coverage, style, features, editorials, sports coverage, front page, and society. Headlines, photography and make-up also rated "excellent."

According to the ACP eight American college papers received first class ratings for the 1955-56 school year.

Pipe Organ Repair BYU Prof's Hobby

Malfunctioning of a church pipe organ led Professor Darrel Monson of the Brigham Young University Electrical Engineering Department to an interesting hobby and sideline of organ building and repair.

As a boy in Salt Lake City, Monson became annoyed at the continual breakdowns of the church organ. By studying on his own he was able to learn enough to give the instrument lasting repair.

After receiving his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Utah and the University of California, Monson has become engaged in experimenting and developing electric organ circuits. Some of his developments have been put into commercial models.

The engineering professor is now working on a design for an improved electronic organ circuit. The general music committee of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints has expressed a desire to investigate possible use of the completed organ in LDS chapels.

by Joan Blodgett
Daily Universe Writer
(Ed. Note: This article is fourth in a series featuring various Brigham Young University services and departments.)

THE EXTENSION division of Brigham Young University in collaboration with Delta Phi fraternity is responsible for the printing and distributing of devotional speeches.

This service, now in its third year at BYU, makes available all of the devotional addresses given during that time.

Current speeches are placed on stands in each building. The most recent one is on the upper right hand corner. Other speeches 115 to date—may be picked up at the Extension Division office in the Student Service Center.

"SPEECH OF THE Year" are not only valuable for reading, but also as a source of teaching material. A list of subjects and authors is available.

A bound volume of speeches of one yeyar may be purchased for $5. Any speech may be purchased individually.

Loree Brown, Chandler, Ariz., is in charge of the printing of these pamphlets. She reports that 22,400 were sold last year. A 2 per cent loss was sustained. This year due to increase in labor and material cost the price will be 15 cents.

DELTA PHI distributes the pamphlets. Raymond Ely, Los Angeles, Calif., is chairman. Committee members include Dean Decker, Enterprise; Cecil Parker, Ogden; Ernest Wells, Provo; Frank Lucas, Ogden; Lorenzo Allen, Rupert, Ida.; and Walton Summers, Ogden. Max Garrett, Salt Lake City, is president of Delta Phi.

Delta Phi receives 5 per cent of proceeds and contributes it to the John A. Widtsoe Memorial Scholarship Foundation Fund. This fund provides scholarships for returned missionary graduate work.

Student Cooks Should Prepare Economica , INutritious Meals

by Deanna Barnum

STUDENTS WHO do their own cooking should spend food dollars wisely.

Compare prices with nutritive value and buy those foods which are the most economical sources of needed nutritients.

By choosing inexpensive cuts of meat and not buying pre-cooked or prepared foods, prices can be reduced. Food bills can also be cut by omitting large amounts of prepared desserts, dressings and relishes.

SINCE FRESH whole milk is expensive, skim milk, evaporated milk, or dried milk can be used.

When buying fruits and vegetables also watch the prices. Two or three cents a pound can be saved on most purchases. Although the saving seems small, it will soon add up.

A suggested easy-to-prepare meal is:

Tomato Porridge
Tuna Salad
Strawberry Gelatin Dessert
Honey Milk Balls
Milk

Tomato porridge is made by cooking one small chopped onion in one tablespoon butter until light brown, adding one quart tomatoes, and heating thoroughly. Prepare grilled cheese sandwiches, cut them into small cubes, and cover with the tomato mixture.

CANDY-LIKE honey milk balls are simple to prepare. Mix three tablespoons honey and four tablespoons peanut butter. To this add one-half cup dried milk, and from the mixture form eighteen small balls. Roll the balls in one-fourth cup crushed corn flakes and chill.

Directions for strawberry gelatin dessert are: Dissolve one package strawberry gelatin in one cup boiling water, and add one cup cold water. Refregerate this mixture until it forms a syrup. Then add one cup cooked cool rice, and one-half cup crushed pineapple. Fold in one-half cup whipped cream and let set until firm.

That's Rich

by Rich Hall

WE HAVE BEEN VINDICATED!

For several weeks people have been asking us if the freshman football team was worth the play we have been giving it on our sports pages.

We began to feel like we were way out on a limb, and that if the frosh didn't come through we would really be hard put to explain why.

LAST THURSDAY the Kittens showed us once and for all that our faith in them was no misplaced. Rocking up a resounding 21-7 victory over a favored Utah State freshman club proved to us that the football fortunes at Brigham Young University are starting on the rebound.

Our reporter that covered the game said that play on the field was much more one-sided than the score would indicate, and that the Aggie Ranglers were never really in the ball game.

THIS COMES as very heartening news to those who have maintained that the "new look" is on its way. At last the foundation is being laid for a very bright future football-wise around the campus.

Friday the Kittens meet Dixie Junior College at St. George. November 10 will be the local fans' first chance to watch the frosh play when Snow College comes to Provo.

THE BIG ONE for the freshman will be November 16 when the University of Utah freshmen journey south to tangle with the Kittens.

We have heard some people sate that as many as 9,000 are expected to watch that clash.

We sincerely hope that a goodly portion of that 9,000 are BYU students.

THE VARSITY put on a good game against Utah State Saturday Some of the reports we have read of the game made it sound as though the Cougars were smashed into the ground, but from where we were sitting things looked pretty fair.

The Cats got a couple of bad breaks and the Aggies got a few good ones. That alone could count for several of the points Utah State managed to post on the scoreboard.

The BYU squad possibly set a new Skyline record with their 37 pass attempts Saturday

CRASH—A Utag back comes to an abrupt halt after a short gain after being dropped by two BYU tacklers. A third Cougar moves in to apply the final stop. (Photo by Larry Heppler)

Utes Clobbered Again, Wyoming Rambles On

by Mark Murphy

SKYLINE Conference football produced another thrill-packed weekend for fans, including Utah's stunning loss to Idaho's upstart Vandals last Saturday.

Idaho's downtrodden forces, with four humbling defeats behind them spoiled the Redskins' homecoming by outhustling and outfighting the Utes 27-21.

The Vandals began last by Arizona State 41-0, handed the potent Redskins two early touchdowns then swept aside their frustration to batter the logy Skins with a brilliant passing attack and a hard-charging line.

Wyoming's powerful Pokes also turned outside the conference to test the Kansas State Wildcats of the Big Seven.

The Cowboys snapped out of their lethargy for three fourth-quarter scores to hand the Wildcats a 27-15 defeat.

WYOMING, outplayed for three periods, exploded in the final canto with two touchdowns within a minute John Watts raced 15 yards on a reverse to score, and tailback Jim Crawford rammed over seconds later, following a Kansas State fumble.

Colorado A&M and Montana, two of the conference's leaser lights this year, put on a scoring parade before a Fort Collins homecoming throng of 7,496. The Aggies whipped the Silvertips 34-20

A&M STRUCK for five first-half touchdowns which broke the Grizzlies' backs. Colorado's Bill Drake provided the sparkler for the Aggies with a brilliant 56-yard run in the second quarter.

Montana's fullback Severn Hayes took the ensuing kick-off on a 70-yard scoring romp to keep the Montanans in contention.

With a 34-7 bulge to work on, Colorado A&M played her second string the entire second half. The Aggie subs held the Grizzlies in check until late in the final period when the Silvertips pushed over two scores.

DENVER University got back on the win trail with a 20-14 victory over New Mexico's Lobos Friday night in Denver.

The Pioneers swamped the Lobos with three first quarter touchdowns. The Lobos could never offset that early advantage garnered by the Denver team.

George Colburn, Denver backfield ace, scored all three touchdowns in the Pioneers' early surge.

Remember When The 1941 Cougars Fooled The Experts, Topped Skyline?

Back in 1941 Brigham Young's football team blasted Wyoming 23-7 and were tied with Colorado University for the Big Seven Conference title.

In pre-season polls the so-called "experts" picked the Cougars for last. But the Cats, led by their wily coach; Eddie Kimball, fashioned a football machine that was the terror of the league.

The week before the Cats spoiled the Cowboys' homecoming, they skunked Utah State 28-0 in Logan.

That was back in the pre-war days when the T-formation was the football innovation that had grid fans and writers buzzing.

But the pesky Cougars, a few touchdown underdog again at Utah and its much feared "T", solved the new formation as they held the Utes to a 6-6 tie, threwing the conference into a three way scramble among BYU, Utah and Colorado.
